The trees—Attitudes in softness and beauty surrounding our campus.

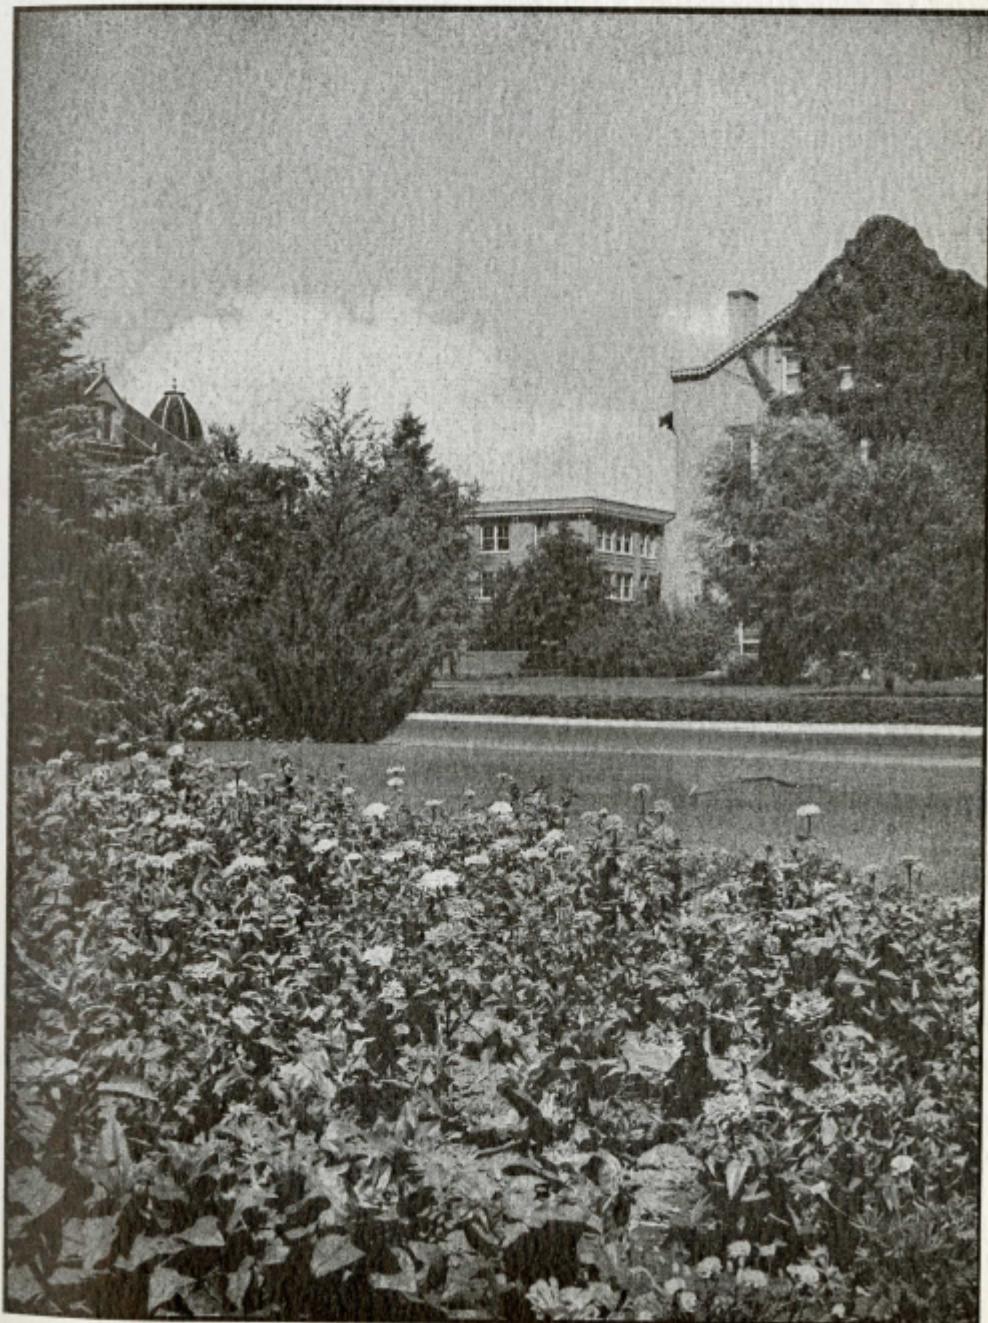

A blending of height and shadowed corners.

ACKNOWLEDGMENT

To those students who helped color these pages with well-directed energy and effort, we wish to acknowledge our appreciation—
May the finished book serve as the merited praise due them.

Triangular luxury freshly green with flowers.

FOREWORD

Forward we march to meet the future with a mirror of memories to treasure the moments of our college life.

Spread like stepping-stones to the halls of learning.

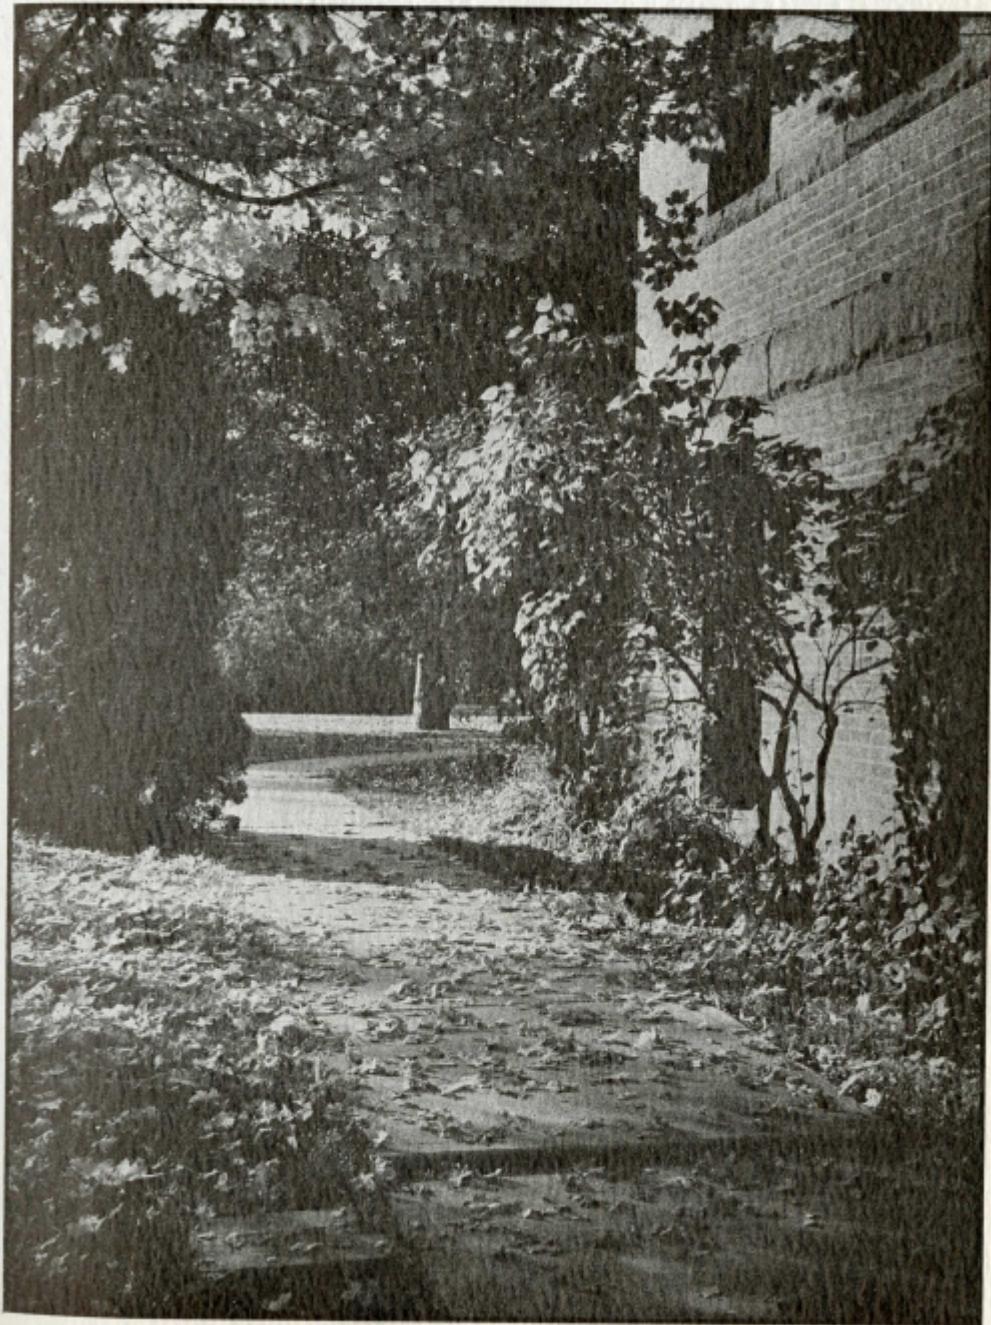

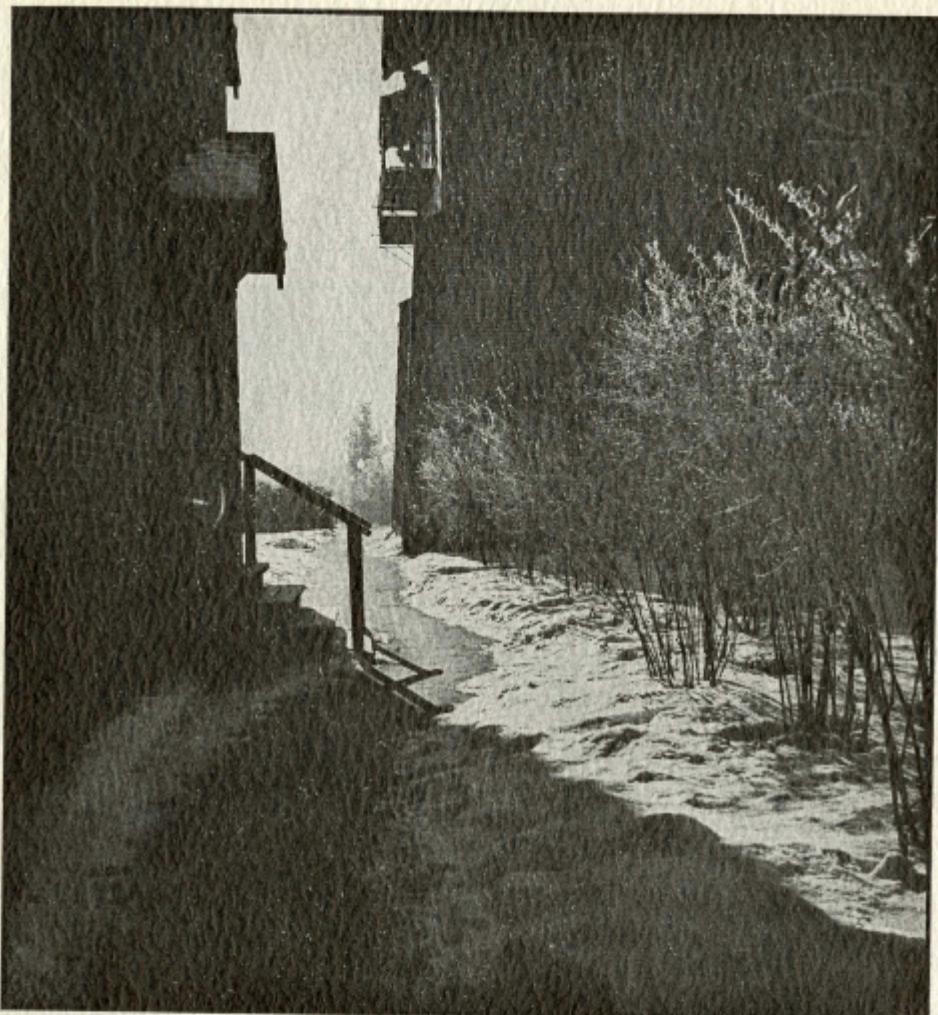

Where murmurs unendingly wander over gleaming tables.

DEDICATION

Let this annual be your album of college-day memories—And to those hours full of pleasure, which no travels in actual life could rival, we dedicate the 1936 Hyakem.

Leafy fall ruffling pathways of campus walks.

Shadowed depths of back doors nestling unnoticed.

DR. ROBERT E. McCONNELL, PRESIDENT

PRESIDENT'S MESSAGE

The Hyakem presents the students' record of the work and play activities of our institution for a year. Through the media of pictures and verbal descriptions, it leaves a record of our academic and laboratory activities, social events, and recreation long to be remembered and cherished.

A college is a concentrated and selected society in which young people gain knowledge and culture. Through a wide variety of experiences, crowded into four years, each student gains much of the fine art of living. In an environment of art, music, science, and applied knowledge, each enriches his mental and emotional appreciations. Through living and working with teachers and fellow students, each creates his own social personality. In the classroom, laboratory, dormitory, and recreation field, each widens his interests and abilities. Friendships are cultivated. In education rightly understood and wisely given is the key to human welfare. I sincerely hope that the years spent on this campus have been highly justified.

ROBERT E. McCONNELL,
President

MR. HENRY J. WHITNEY

Men are just as capable of goodness, nobility, and unselfishness as they are of greed, sensuality, and meanness. Identify yourself with something greater than yourself and stand for it.

Almost does my hand tremble with emotion as I pen these brief lines. It is so because I believe you have sensed the vision that seers and prophets of all ages have held before youth. The vision so beautifully expressed in Ben Jonson's lyric, "It is not growing like a tree" . . .

It is not growing like a tree
In bulk doth make man better be;
Or standing long an oak, three hundred year,
To fall a log at last, dry, bald, and sear.
A lily of a day
Is fairer far in May,
Although it fall and die that night,
It was the plant and flower of light.
In small proportions we just beauties see,
And in short measures life may perfect be.

HENRY J. WHITNEY.

DEANS

MR. AND MRS. O. H. HOLMES

Stevenson says that "To miss the joy is to miss everything," and Bacon that "There is no man that imparteth his joys to his friend but he joyeth the more," and Montaigne that, "A mere bookish learning is a poor paltry learning," and Chaucer, of the student, "Gladly would he learn, and gladly teach." When, as actual teachers, your "mere bookish learning" may seem to you very scanty indeed, and when the old college friendships in which you might "joy the more" seem very far away, I hope that you can still philosophize on the description of Chaucer's student, and find the joy in your new work.

MARGARET COFFIN HOLMES,
Dean of Women

To every graduate inevitable changes lie ahead. Real joys will come to you through exercising your new capacities. Would it not be wise to preserve in the inevitable changes that lie ahead the principle that the essentials of life are simple and that the value of personal worth is priceless? I hope as the result of your efforts that you will attain success in all the duties you undertake.

O. H. HOLMES, Jr.,
Dean of Men

ASSOCIATED STUDENTS

Because it values the position it enjoys in the play and work life of those who cherish a taste for complete college life, this organization of students chosen from all classes has had a very active year.

A bright outlook on the social and administrative activities of school life among students on the campus has given these officers a splendid opportunity to do a service to the school.

As the years go by, new officers will hold these positions, and new rules and laws will probably be formed, but the old spirit of "doing service" shall always be their fundamental slogan.

WOMEN'S LEAGUE

Because some things just naturally seem to go together—we have always found hard-working students in a hard-working organization—so we present the officers heading campus women.

Before us we catch glimpses of the Snowball, annual formal sponsored by the organization—teas—mother's week-end—Christmas program with all its lighted memory—and then we think of other things. These things are blended with natural helpfulness and frequent get-togethers.

There is no limit, apparently, to the versatility of organizations on the campus—including our Women's league.

MUNSON HALL

The boys of Munson Hall wish to dedicate this page to you that you may have a memory of the year's work—a tribute to "Mother" Rainey.

Memories of the informal Valentine party for the girls—dancing, cards, eats. Then the annual waffle breakfast with its spring color and laughter of faculty and house residents echoing through the halls.

Living amicably together throughout the year, the organization brought new honors home many times. The 1936 Press Club Revue cup now adorns the Munson mantel—"Little Nell" capturing the hearts of the audience. May it serve as inspiration to its future members.

SUE LOMBARD HALL

The little favors—the in-between music—the hurried rush of dances—the lights out and then to bed—these things are real! And these are the things that Sue Lombard built.

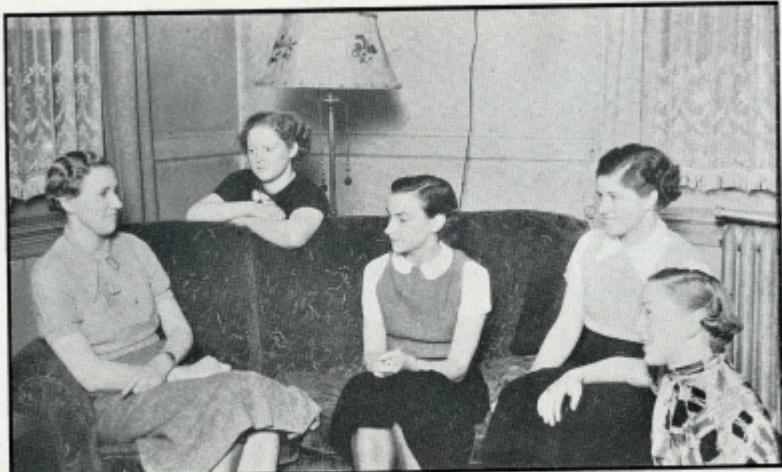

Happy are the college students who choose this hall. Sunny and cheerful are their days—warm are their friendships.

Here you will find the gay spirit that brought the "Wax Museum" to life for us, the spirit that has given us so many rollicking faculty impersonations. "Sue" may be proud of having won prizes in the Homecoming Stunt night and the Press Club Revue with this spirit.

A tea for freshmen, hall parties—open house—weekly after-dinner dancing—and house meetings filled the calendar with many happy hours.

KAMOLA HALL

Popcorn parties—Christmas tea—parties—waffle breakfast—ping-pong
—gay hours mixed with the more serious studying of exam-weeks.

A keen interest in the social activities of the campus cooperating with a desire to participate in them, has given this house organization of girls considerable recognition.

Members of the hall have been very active in campus affairs. Here one finds tradition mixed with modern ideas—and so it should be for a permanently woven friendship.

Eager to find the true value in college life—and move toward accomplishment.

OFF-CAMPUS CLUB

A rare combination of fun and hard work gave this organization a well-remembered status on the pages of our book of memories.

Banquet—a Hallowe'en party—a scavenger hunt—the May Prom—theater parties—all these drifted by as the year rolled on—but always there was left a recognition of well-spent hours. Going a bit oriental at the May Prom with lanterns and Tea Garden motif the club climaxed a season of delightful fun.

Being the largest organization of girls on the campus, an effort has been made to bring all the girls living off the campus together in friendship and activity.

Leisure moments are spent reading in the Off-Campus room which has been a place of recreation for every girl.

CAMPUS LEADERS

In the years to come we shall look again at these printed pages, remembering faces which may grow somewhat dim. Time passes and our school days pass, but memories remain.

Last year's annual marked the beginning of this section in our Hyakem. With this new section came a reorganizing of the book to make it truly a student's book of memories. In response to the request of the Hyakem Staff, the Board of Deans has selected the 10 most outstanding students on the Campus. These leaders in our school life have helped make our activities alive for us now—they will make them live for us in our book of memories.

Here you will find the Writer, the Athlete, the Artist, the Student Officer, the Scholar, the Drama Student—all of them your Campus Leaders.

CAMPUS LEADERS

The most outstanding points considered by the Deans in making this choice were Service, Leadership, and Character. Service to classmates, service to organizations, and service to the school, were important. Leadership that built from the past into the present school life, and on into the future, character and its qualities of responsibility, cooperation in school activities, scholarship in school classes, and vision in school ideals, all played their part in the choice.

By giving us this list of campus leaders, the Deans hope to give recognition to college accomplishment. It is not to these alone, that this page wishes to give honor, but to all the other students who in innumerable little ways have helped our activities flourish, and have made these people leaders.

The Hyakem Staff wishes to thank Mr. Whitney, Mrs. Holmes, and Mr. Holmes for cooperating with them in making this choice.

SENIORS

The senior banquet—theater party—graduation—straightening caps and gowns—practice teaching—anxious faces—sad at leaving school. This is a picture of memories for the Seniors.

The whistle blows—the boat takes its course—the Seniors are on their way to the land of Teaching. Some will follow the field, others may find their course a bit changed—but all will carry memories of their college life with them wherever they may be.

May future Seniors find their college days as filled with inspiration and opportunity as this 1936 class has found them.

JUNIOR CLASS

The days grow shorter—the time draws near—graduation at last! Three years of earnest endeavor, of purposeful pursuit, of quiet resolve are terminated.

An early June dawn breaks—Juniors for the first time join the Processional march in caps and gowns, adding a new note of dignity to a growing institution. Graduation passes, leaving the two-fold feeling of an assignment completed and a new work begun.

Days ahead engender hopeful visions of an active participation in a chosen field. Days behind bring back happy memories of pleasant associations—the final banquet late in May—the graduation dance—the culminating activities in the pleasing panorama of a college career.

SOPHOMORE CLASS

The camera slides and reveals the Colonial Ball—winter sports queen. Entering upon the threshold of college life, this class leaves us pleasant memories of work and play.

The art of working together will always be identified with a framed picture of the Sophomore class. And when the senior boat leaves the dock, they will leave friends behind who will remember long after.

They may count—one year more—two years more—but always there will be a reminiscence of by-gone days.

FRESHMAN CLASS

Two hundred Freshmen, the largest aggregation of new students in the recent history of the school, brought to the institution a commendable list of distinctive contributions. In enthusiasm and endeavor, in participation and in furthering the ideals of the College, the class earned distinction by making an early adjustment to its new environment.

Freshman initiation—the leap year dance—street dancing—and vociferous yell kings, all contributed by the school's yearling group, were welcome additions to college activities. Ambitious campus leaders found willing hands and able support in this group experiencing its initial year of college life.

THE HYAKEM

Here is your book of college life—your 1936 Hyakem. Within its covers you will find the pattern of your activities, your efforts, and your fun—all built from the spirit that you have put into them.

It has been our aim to catch the enthusiasm with which all of you have fashioned your college life in order that, by recording the passing moments of it, we might help make it live for you in your memories and in your future activities.

As you look through this Hyakem, you will see an ever changing and enlarging picture. The faculty, with its inspiration, and the classes, from Freshman to Senior each growing and contributing, have formed the basis of your college spirit. They are the foundation from which you have built your activities. From them you have gained the enthusiasm that is portrayed in your arts, your athletics, your organizations, your publications, and your campus life. It has been a pleasure to the Hyakem Staff to record the picture of this enthusiasm and spirit. May future Staffs continue to have such student spirit to build into the Hyakem.

CAMPUS CRIER

As we look at a finished work, we glimpse a thing of beauty. But there is more than that—there is the beauty which weary hands molded, the untiring efforts of laborers laying idea upon idea.

I believe it was Scott who once said, "And better had they ne'er been born, who read to doubt or read to scorn." So it is with many works—there must be an understanding of all the materials and the capacity of its builder to fully appreciate the final product. And with an understanding of the work underlying newspaper make-up there comes a better evaluation of the results.

As I've worked with willing but tired newspaper reporters, I've learned to appreciate more and more the truthful significance of the saying that "you write with ease to show your breeding, but easy writings cursed hard reading."

I hope that we have made your steps to the book of life a bit easier to climb.

ANNE MASSOURAS.

With added facilities for the CAMPUS CRIER office which have been put into effect this Spring quarter to give the associated students a better publication, we of the staff feel that after more students become interested in our new surroundings and the real benefit derived from participation, the outcome will be evidenced by a better CAMPUS CRIER.

FINE ARTS

First row: Reynolds, Hall, Kanyer, Gattiker, M. Stevens, D. Hahn, Koch, V. Stevens, Beck, Woodcock, Butler, Mrs. Hahn.
Second row: Hanneman, Kinney, Dunnington, Kenneth Bowers, Keith Bowers, Miller, Ernst, Leitch.

MUSIC

Tunes lingering through the halls—pianos lending their bit to the practicing hour—a soprano singing her way up the scales—appreciation classes listening to strains of music. All these, and still more, you will find as you journey about our campus music department.

ORCHESTRA

There are a variety of instruments and a variety of players in the all-school orchestra pit. It is this variety which adds a gay note to our programs. It is their excellence which gives such enjoyment in beautiful music.

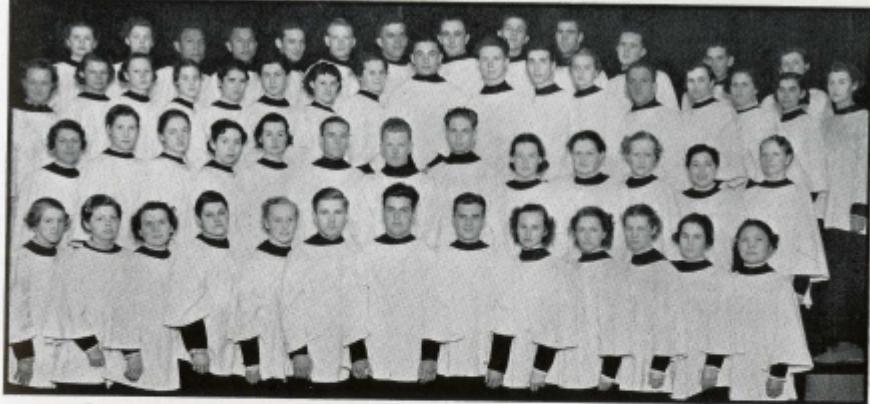

Violins, viola, cello, bass, flute, clarinets, horns, trumpets, trombones, tympani, piano—these make up our orchestral instruments. Members include K. Beck, K. Bowers, Kenneth Bowers, J. Butler, D. Correa, R. Dunnington, I. Gattiker, F. Giusiano, M. Haagen, D. Hahn, M. Hahn, L. Hall, R. Hanneman, M. Kanyer, W. Kinney, K. Leitch, M. Means, D. Miller, R. McGlenn, R. Pyle, M. Reynolds, W. Rogers, J. Smith, M. Stevens, V. Stevens, J. Trainor, M. Whitfield and D. Woodcock.

Under the direction of Mr. Ernst, and with the help of Mr. Pyle, the orchestra has had a full year playing for school dramatizations, assemblies, and their own concerts.

WOMEN'S ENSEMBLE

The lyric soprano—the mello alto—and the other voices combine to give their interpretation of many songs. Singing for a high school assembly—a Christmas concert—a spring concert—Baccalaureate—and many assemblies, this group has had a full calendar this year.

Under the direction of Miss Juanita Davies, the Ensemble has also made out-of-town trips where they found and gave much enjoyment. The group includes H. Castor, M. Crawford, L. Jackson, K. Leitch, J. Mason, E. Maxwell, M. Reynolds, M. Richert, P. Tidland, P. Watts and D. Woodcock.

First row: Butler, Hurd, Hartwell, Clark, Ryan, Hansen, Nesbit, Jones, Stull, Rich, Maxwell, Beckman, Jacobs.
 Second row: Falseni, Lofstrom, Rose, Treadwell, Page, Keith Bowers, Nelson, Kenneth Bowers, Hahn, McDonell, Freeman, Herold, Beeson.
 Third row: Watts, Spring, Hall, McMillan, Ridley, Lawrence, Reynolds, Graham, Smith, Kinney, Gattiker, Jackson, Butler, Evans, Chisholm, Wilt, Leitch.

A CAPPELLA

A combination of over fifty voices under the direction of Mr. Snyder made this chorus a very entertaining one on any program it appeared. It has sung for clubs, churches, high schools, and W. S. N. S. programs and assemblies, as well as in its own concerts and radio broadcast.

This group includes R. Beckman, C. Boice, K. Bowers, Kenneth Bowers, K. Bowers, L. Breckon, H. Castor, A. Chisholm, A. Clark, A. Demmert, E. Demmert, G. Evans, N. Falseni, E. Freeman, I. Gattiker, D. "CHILDREN OF THE MOON"
Cappa, Kerby, Stevens, Emerson, Spedden, Cruttenden, Riegel.

DRAMA

The scene opens on "Children of the Moon"—a tense moving play directed by Miss Agnes Howe during 1934-1935—depicting isolation off the English sea coast where mental conflicts, moon madness and hysteria blend together to give us entertainment. These faces come before us: Dante Cappa, Elsabelle Cruttenden, Margaret Dieringer, Alice Emerson, John Kerby, Ralph Riegel, Rush Spedden, and Marvin Stevens.

"UNTO SUCH GLORY"
Edward Robertson, Edith Robertson, Porter,
Smith, Evans.

"THANKS AWFULLY"
Crawford, Massouras, McDonald, Stillwell,
Crawford, Massouras, Gustafson, McDonald,
Stillwell, Southmayd, Mero, Stockvis, Nevins.

"THE IMAGINARY INVALID"

Kerby, Gilmore, Burke, Stephens, Burrage, Bradshaw, McKibben, Sheldon.

And as the light grows dimmer we glimpse a success from our 1935-1936 workrooms—"The Imaginary Invalid"—under the direction of Russell W. Lembke. This French period play portrays a man trying geniously to marry off his daughter to a doctor, to avoid the expense accrued during his imaginary ills. There is an intimate glow of fine French scenery and costuming. The scene finds Marcia Best, Marian Bradshaw, James Burke, Leonard Burrage, James Gilmore, John Kerby, Margaret McKibben, Herbert Mattox, Jack Mero, Madeline Reynolds, Maxine Sheldon, Thomas Stephens, and Ernest Wellenbrock.

Eager eyes watching four one-act plays—an all colored cast playing the dramatically intense and exciting "Unto Such Glory." We hear Elbert Evans, Nate Porter, Robert D. Smith, Edward Robertson, and Edith Robertson. "Thanks Awfully," comes next—its light vein of sophisticated comedy relaxing with Marian Bradshaw, Mary Crawford, Elsabelle Cruttenden, Ellen Gustafson, Marian Haagen, Ruth Hinz, Lois McDonald, Florence Massouras, Jack Mero, Wilma Nevins, Yvonne Santee, Pearl Smith, Georgia Southmayd and Betty Stockvis. Then the scene takes us on the stage of "Between Trains," where there is homely comfort in watching a common situation. We hear Gladys Code, Mary Crawford, Mabel Jones and Maxine Sheldon. To the "Land of Heart's Desire" they take us now—with a whimsical and fantastic story of a young wife "tired of bitter tongues, wise wisdom, and hard work." Such sadness is portrayed by Woodrow Epp, Hamilton Montgomery, Madeline Reynolds, Thelma Wilt, Arnold Wellenbrock and Martha Whittaker.

"THE IMAGINARY INVALID"

Best, Kerby, Bradshaw, Burke, Mattox, Sheldon, Gilmore, Stephens, Mero, McKibben, Wellenbrock.

"LADIES OF THE JURY"

Mero, Farnam, Mattox, Alff, Chiotti, Dieringer, Cozza, C. Spedden, Bloch, Southmayd, R. Spedden, Lunstrum, Hanneman, Ritchey.

In "Ladies of the Jury," the day of illogical heroines, of pretentious heroes leaves us. In its stead we find the characters mature and human—how their humanity is stripped from them! There is a rollicking development of the plot which centers about a French show-girl who is charged with murdering her husband. Disagreements, among the ladies in the jury, as to the guilt or innocence of the victim, cause many humorous situations.

The play, the first directed by Mr. Russell Lembke in the 1935-1936 season, is well received. The voices of Betty Alff, Richard Bird, Jean Bloch, Joe Chiotti, Frank Cozza, Elisabeth Cruttenden, Marcella Farnham, James Gilmore, Bob Hanneman, Wendall Kinney, Alice Lunstrom, Anne Massouras, Herbert Mattox, Jack Mero, Maurice Pettit, Madeline Reynolds, Del Ritchey, Georgia Southmayd, Catherine Spedden, and Rush Spedden were heard portraying the characters.

"LADIES OF THE JURY"

Alff, Cozza, Pettit, Reynolds, Mattox, Farnam, C. Spedden, Chiotti, Mero, Dieringer, Bird, Bloch.

"BIRTHRIGHT"

Stevens, Plouse, A. Wellenbrock, Best, Stephens, Brown, Denslow, Smoke, E. Wellenbrock, Gilmore, Stillwell, Mills, Cappa, Siegel, Richert, Kinney, Epp.

Colorful—a pathway of interest encircles the audience—"Birthright"—the vibrant undertone of German Jewery depicting a Nazi frenzy—a family plunged into a whirlpool of hate by the ascension of the Brown Shirts to power—all these lead finally to a spiritual awakening binding shattered lives. In perfect tempo these actors were heard: Marcia Best, Richard Bird, Betty Brown, Dante Cappa, Harold Denslow, Woodrow Epp, James Gilmore, Ivron Hill, John Kerby, Wendall Kinney, Thelma Plouse, William Richert, Eloise Siegal, George Smith, Leonard Smoke, William Stephens, Marvin Stevens, Thelma Stillwell, Arnold Wellenbrock and Ernest Wellenbrock.

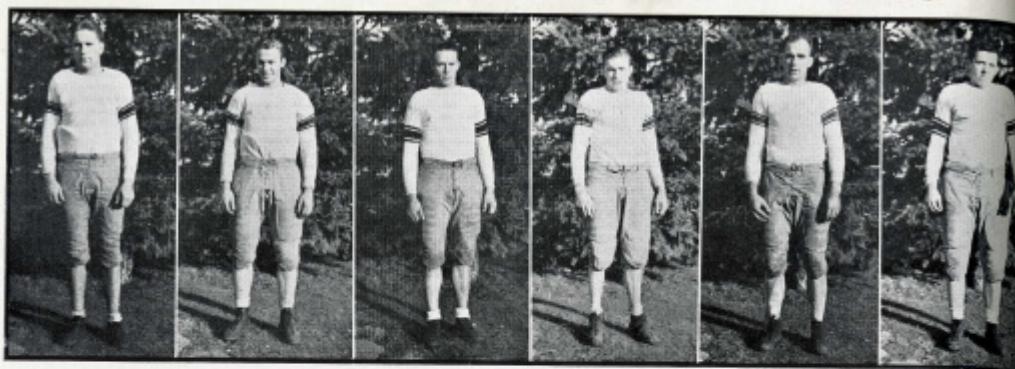

"BETWEEN TRAINS"
Sheldon, Jones, Code, Crawford.

"LAND OF HEART'S DESIRE"
Montgomery, Reynolds, Whittaker, Wilt,
Epp, Wellenbrock.

A touchdown—crowds yelling—school colors flying in the breeze—the loud notes of the band—coaches grinning—ah, yes, football season is on!

Big but green material—a .571 winning percentage in the season's schedule—defeats and victories—such will be the football hero's memories.

Victories include the U. S. S. Lexington, an outstanding Naval eleven; Pacific Lutheran College, otherwise undefeated and unscored upon; British Columbia University, rapidly improving Canadians; and the powerful W. S. C. Frosh, conquerors of the Washington yearlings.

There was defeat at the hands of Gonzaga and Bellingham.

Faces loom before us—Hakola, honorary captain and Rotary medalist, Taylor, Bednarski, and Thurston—selected on all-conference teams.

Early touchdown—on a 90-yard run. Wildcats assumed mastery throughout the remainder of the fray. Two passes from Taylor to Borst and a pass interception by Carey nullified the sailors' superiority.

BASKETBALL

The ball soars—a basket! The stands roar—coaches anxiously glance about—benchmen count the minutes—the cage season is on.

A lack of veteran material, fourteen out of twenty-five games won, an average of .560—all these will remain in the hoopers' memories for years to come.

The season started slowly, a natural thing considering the unusual set-up here. By four wins in a promising finish, the Wildcats proved that the Nicholson machine is in the process of again taking the load for future tri-Normal honors.

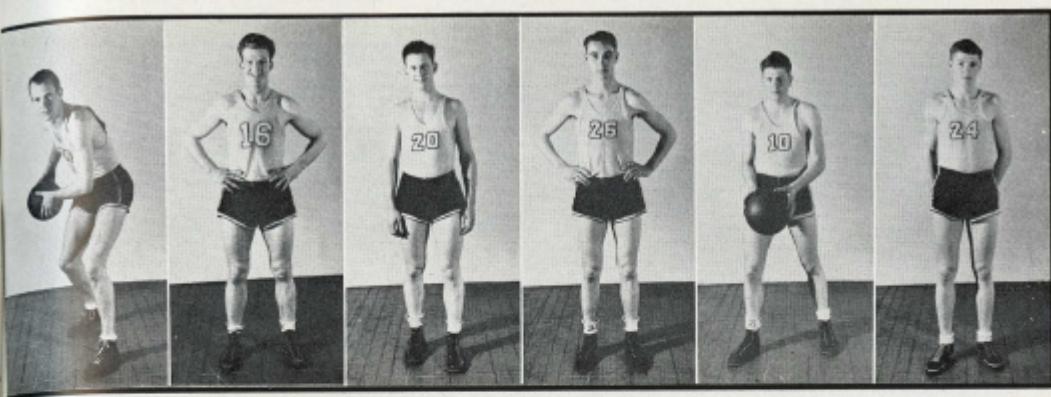

A win and a loss to the Yakima Y. M. C. A. team, composed of ex-Wildcat luminaries during the opening weeks of the winter's contest, showed the cats still phlegmatic. During the holiday season three wins inspired the quintet. Two British Columbia teams bowed to our invading men with the U. B. C. cagers suffering a loss in the local pavilion. The Normalites lost to the powerful Drake team and the University of Washington Varsity during the holidays.

Portland U was twice bested here, as the season got well under way. The Wildcats lost to the invading Savage five here for the first time in a decade or more. Cheney's veteran squad took the opening game of the Tri-Normal classic by a 39-25 margin.

Opening a hoop tour at Tacoma on January 24, the State Normal Wildcats dropped a heart-breaker to the College of Puget Sound, by a score of 42-40. Returning home, the Wildcat cagers met and defeated Pacific University twice in succession. In a wild exhibition of loose basketball they next routed the K. E. Laundry five by a 30-20 margin.

Tri-Normal champion colors were worn by Cheney this year—the following Saturday they won their third straight conference victory at the expense of the Wildcats, 40-24. This defeat temporarily placed the Cats in the Tri-Normal cellar from which they emerged, however, by two wins over the Vikings. Two victories, one over the Yakima Junior College quintet and the other over visiting University of British Columbia hoopmen, finished the season.

Our album now turns the page upon basketball and takes us through memories of track and tennis.

TRACK

Tired faces—expectant crowds—school colors—track takes our attention. Running, hurdling, shot put, pole vaulting, unfortunate weather, rain, loss of men through illness—such make up the track man's album of memories.

Freshmen and Sophomores carry away honors, with athletes in all events. Upperclassmen take leading parts and break records. Here they are—John Holl defending his Tri-Normal records in discus and high jump; Eddie Robertson, the ranking two-miler; Gene Denny, pole vaulting his second season; and Bowers, running the half-mile. These faces drift by—Hartman in the quarter mile, Pettit in the shot put and the pole vault, Nicholson and Barto leaning forward. The tension breaks—W. S. N. S. is winning.

Archery

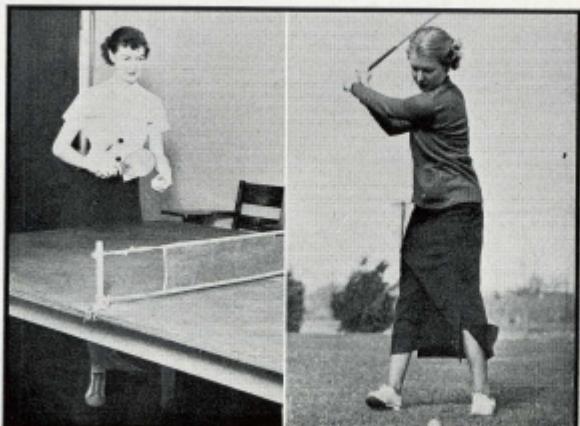

One after another shooting through the air, tense moments, fun—such memories will be recalled by the archery classes on the campus. With the increased interest in this sport, under the direction of Phyllis Gove Weimer, has come the participation of many girls. Hitting the mark and straight shooting are the aims of the archers.

Golf

The sport of golf, coeds have found particularly exciting—a "hole-in-one" delighted exclamations, and moments of future enjoyment.

Ping Pong

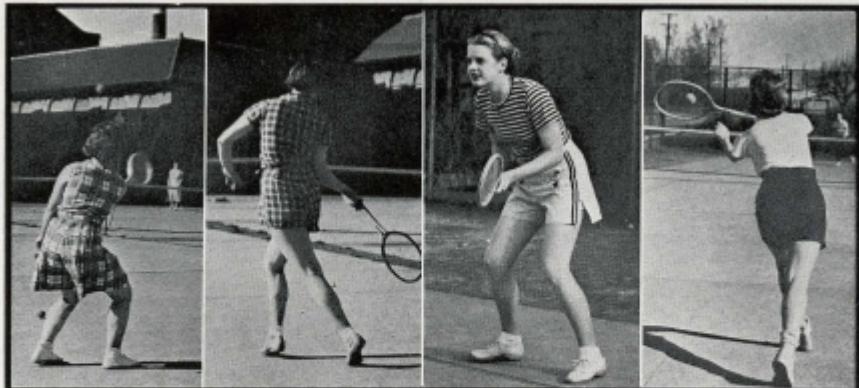

Played in dormitories, classrooms, and the gymnasium—ping pong has become an all-year sport. It is one of the fastest and most popular pastimes on the campus.

Tennis

With excited participants and still more excited watchers, tennis is a popular sport. "Duce" and the ball sailing through the air offers one more moment of expectancy each time—this is the appeal of tennis.

Soccer Basketball

Soccer basketball is a part of the coeds' program of sports. There are teams in heated contests, tired bodies—but it is fun.

Plays and Games

Mingling with the Edison children in fragments of play and organized play activity, is enjoyed by the plays and games class. Student teachers participating gladly and children laughing—these are typical experiences in this class.

Third row: Ottini, McDonald, Weber, Mogenson, Eschbach.

W. A. A.

A hockey tournament in the Fall, breakfast hikes, social hours, a camping trip, a banquet, sweaters, letter awards—all these are familiar events on the Women's Athletic Association's social calendar.

The awarding of the tennis cup, to the tennis champion, and sportsmanship cup, to the club's outstanding athlete and student, at the annual banquet, is a highlight of its activities.

With the added interest of taking in honorary members—Miss Simpson, Miss Ritchie, Mrs. Wiemer and Miss Wentworth this year—the club has had a full and entertaining year.

Members include: E. Amos, A. Black, M. Bolman, B. Broad, J. Brockerman, M. Brown, D. Carlson, A. Clark, V. Cooke, P. Davidson, G. Ek, B. Eschbach, E. Eschbach, L. Farrell, L. Fuller, R. Ganders, H. W CLUB

Coveted crimson and black sweaters, getting letters, initiations, varsity ball, smoker, informal dance for Cheney, banquet—such memories will come to the athlete's mind as he thinks of these college days.

Thirty-five members in the club did their bit toward making themselves a part of campus life. Boxing and wrestling fans watched aggressive performers at the smoker with interested anticipation as to what was going to happen next.

Varied to suit the capacity of individuals, this type of organization has a further definite value—and that is of organizing campus athlete leaders for the fulfillment of professional interest in the teaching field after campus days are over.

PRESS CLUB

Printer's ink and typewritten pages give you an idea of the interests of the campus Press Club. The club is composed of members of the Hyakem and Campus Crier staffs.

Fall quarter had on its blueprint the annual Barn Dance sponsored by the organization. The new gym, adorned with corn stalks and other familiar farm backgrounds, made an attractive setting for the dance.

Winter quarter was climaxed by the Press Club College Revue. "Here Comes the Showboat" strains opened the amateur hour and closed with the awarding of door prizes and stunt prizes.

Members include: Alden Bice, Dick Bird, Edith Bratton, Dante Cappa, Mary Crawford, Gertrude Ek, Eleanor Freeman, Elsie Graber, Elsie Hansen, Adriana Kempkes, Anne Massouras, Evelyn Maxwell, Hedwig Mayr, James Merryman, William Richert, Katherine Robbins, Elaine Shields, Juanita Soule, Catherine Spedden, Bill Stephens and Helen Wines.

HERODOTEANS

Passing events of the day, which will make history, interest members of this organization. Memories of a bean feed—a popcorn feed—entertainment for the Cove School—a Thanksgiving banquet—and historical talks at meetings—such has been its interest this year.

A common feeling and interest in history started this club of history majors and minors a number of years ago—and it's been going ever since. Twenty-five members are listed on its books each fall quarter—those twenty-five shall remember their hours here for many a day to come.

Members include: Ruth Beckman, Mary Bolman, Gertrude Ek, Merrill Ellis, Ruth Elmendorf, Elsie Graber, Dixie Graham, Rudolph Hansen, Evelyn Herold, Joe Kahklen, Adriana Kempkes, Margaret McKibben, Evelyn Maxwell, Kenneth Meeks, Karla Mogenson, Helen Ottini, Lucille Peterson, Thelma Plouse, Ralph Randall, William Richert, Charlotte Russell, Adrian Solberg, and Rush Spedden. The advisers are Mr. Barto and Mr. Carstensen.

KAPPA PI

With working in the kindergarten-primary grades as its chief interest, this organization carries memories of—children's concert—parent teacher meetings—and Miss Meisner, its adviser.

A spirit of cooperation, initiative, and friendship colors each thing it does. Its main function of the year, the annual Children's Concert, was as successful this year as such a spirit could make it. It was a fine tribute to the club and its work.

The bright lights of the Christmas tree each year have been dutifully given prominence in its list of activities. The tree's reflection on Christmas Eve is a like reflection of the work this organization engages in.

KNIGHTS OF THE CLAW

The flavor of hot dogs, luscious lollipops, barkers announcing their side shows, "A prize every time, folks, a prize every time!"—Yes, you guessed it, this club's annual carnival.

Service, loyalty, and duty are the three watch-words of this club—and these may be found in the things it does—ushering, taking tickets, patrolling games, developing school spirit, etc.

Its efforts have been recognized and appreciated. It is one of the most active clubs on the campus.

ELLENBURG AND THE KITTIKAS VALLEY

Favorable crop conditions

Ellensburg is the county seat of Kittitas county and the geographical center of the state of Washington. It has a high percentage of sunshine with an average of 217 clear days a year. The climate is pleasant, varying from arid to sub-humid. Most of the precipitation comes in the late fall, winter and spring, a situation favorable to irrigated crop production.

Kittitas Valley offers more new farms in Washington. Fundamentally, this is a general and diversified farming area. On the gently rolling landscape have been built farms on which all farming enterprises do well. A long growing season, favorable climate, plenty of hay and other feeds, make this a dairy country. People like to live in this irrigated section because of the surroundings, climate, productivity of soil and the easy access to markets. Rapid trans-continental rail service, combined with the most improved transportation equipment, make it possible for the grower to advantageously reach the large eastern and California markets.

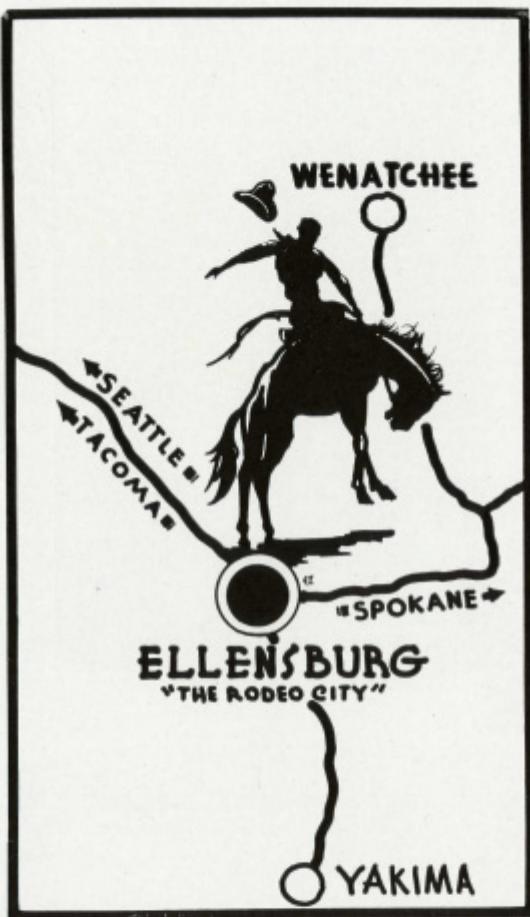

Dairying is one of the most successful farm lines and industries. Increasing amounts of sweet cream are being shipped to Seattle and Dairying industry.

Tacoma. The local creameries manufacture butter from 984,500 pounds or more of butterfat. Production costs are low. Other economies are due to the favorable climate and less expensive housing.

The Ellensburg Rodeo

An ideal trip to make for your Labor Day week-end vacation is the Ellensburg Rodeo. The show is a pageant of thrilling and spectacular western sports without equal in the Pacific Northwest. The greatest bronc riders up on the toughest buckers in the West, and the champion cowboys and cowgirls of the country will be found here, competing for national honors. You will see colorful parades of gorgeously arrayed Indians. A county fair is presented in connection with the Rodeo, representing the home sciences and agricultural production of the valley. Its colorful displays add much interest to the celebration. The Ellensburg Rodeo has become one of the three outstanding shows of its kind in the country.

The Ginkgo Forest

Twenty-eight miles from Ellensburg, the home of the Washington State Normal School, lies a well known petrified forest. Approximately one hundred typical logs, partially exhumed, and descended from the sacred gardens of the Orient lie here. Specimen hunters have caused the policing of the area by the State Park Board. This forest has made Ellensburg attractive to tourists.

The petrified forest is one of the greatest geological wonders of the present, appealing to both scientists and laymen. Altogether there are thousands of specimens situated in twenty sections of arid land. The formation occurred ten to thirty million years ago when the logs were carried by flowing lava into an ancient lake which chilled the lava. The wood was changed to opal but the details of the wood structure were perfectly preserved.

The forest is the discovery of Mr. George Beck, science instructor, of the Ellensburg Normal.
